WINES BORN FROM FIRE

THESE WINES AND OUR COOKING ARE CONNECTED BY FIRE – IN THE KITCHEN THROUGH FLAME, HEAT AND SMOKE, IN THE VINEYARDS THROUGH THE ASH AND BASALT LEFT BEHIND BY ANCIENT ERUPTIONS.

VOLCANIC VINEYARDS ARE PLANTED WHERE THE LAND ONCE BURNED – RUGGED SLOPES OF BASALT, ASH, AND PUMICE.

THE POROUS NATURE OF THESE SOILS ALLOW FOR WATER TO DRAIN FAST, WHICH ENCOURAGES THE VINES TO DEVELOP DEEPER ROOT SYSTEMS TO FIND MOISTURE.

THE STRUGGLE CREATES CHARACTER: SMALLER BERRIES, MORE INTENSE FLAVOURS, WINES WITH BRIGHTNESS AND MINERAL TENSION, OFTEN CARRYING A FAINT SMOKINESS OR SAVOURY EDGE THAT HINTS AT THEIR FIERY ORIGINS.

VOLCANIC WHITES ON CORAVIN

2024 Azores Wine Company 'O Original' Verdelho Mount Pico, Azores 75mL 150mL
23 46

Based right at the foot of Mount Pico, only 50m above sea level, smackbang in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean. Google it if you don't believe me. It's one of the most unique and harsh growing regions in the world. Locals like to say the vines need to be close enough to the ocean to "hear the crabs sing." The vines grow directly in cracks of black volcanic basalt, and are protected by ancient stone walls known locally as currais – central to Pico's UNESCO World Heritage status. If these walls could talk – they would be complaining about the strong salty Atlantic winds blowing in all directions at once! Viticulture would be almost impossible without them. The constant tug-of-war between the mountain and the sea keeps yields tiny and gives the wines their incredible purity, tension and unmistakable salinity.

Verdelho o Original is made from the island's indigenous Verdelho (completely different to mainland Verdelho). It's bright and precise, citrus and tropical notes, and a mineral, salty drive through the palate.

2024 Gaia 'Thalassitis' Assyrtiko Santorini, Greece 75mL 150mL
21 42

On Santorini, Assyrtiko grows in volcanic soils with no clay, which means no water reserves, extremely low yields, and immunity to phylloxera – so the vines remain ungrafted. They're trained in the island's signature kouloura (braided basket) shape, and each new ring added annually helps date the vine. When a vine's production drops, growers 'decapitate' it, allowing a new plant to regrow from the same ancient root system. This cycle happens roughly every 80–100 years, meaning the roots can be several centuries old – some tracing back to vine growth on the island as early as 1500 BCE, making them among the oldest in the world.

2022 Katsunuma Jyozo Aruga Branca 'Clareza' Koshu Yamanashi, Japan 75mL 150mL
15 30

Founded in 1937, Katsunuma Winery have dedicated themselves entirely to Koshu, an indigenous white grape grown in Yamanashi for over 1,300 years, earning a reputation of true Koshu whisperers. Their vineyard sits in soils once considered too poor for rice, but ideal for grapes, all in the shadow of Mt Fuji's volcanic landscape.

This is a pristine expression of Koshu: delicate and mineral, with white flowers, ripe pear, lemon zest and a silky texture.

VOLCANIC REDS ON CORAVIN

2022 Vins de la Madone 'Les Rougeots du Clos' Gamays Urfé, France

75mL 150mL

13 26

Vins de la Madone is a vibrant, small-production red from the tiny region of Urfé, about an hour and a half drive west of Beaujolais. Also known as the "Loire Volcanique" the region is known for its many extinct volcanoes. 'Les Rougeots du Clos' contains 3 different types of Gamay, all of which are made with a light touch to showcase purity and drinkability. Bursting with red cherry, wild strawberry and subtle floral spice, it sits in that sweet spot between freshness and gentle structure, with silky tannins and a mineral finish.

2022 Passopisciaro 'Passorosso' Nerello Mascalese Etna, Italy

18 36

Passopisciaro is located high on the northern slopes of Mount Etna in Sicily, where winemaker Andrea Franchetti has restored long-neglected vineyards. He was instrumental in the modern renaissance of Etna wine, exploring individual 'contrade' (vineyard districts) and lifting the region's profile around the world. This is a pure expression of Etna's heights: Nerello Mascalese grown on black volcanic soils, where old vines cling to steep terraces of cooled lava. Bright red cherry, wild herbs and crushed rock lead the nose, while the palate is silky yet energetic, driven by crisp acidity and fine, dusty tannins. There's a salty, smoky edge that speaks directly of the volcanic landscape: Etna's tension, heat, and altitude captured in a glass.

2021 Bien de Altura 'Sansofi' Listán Negro Blend Gran Canaria, Spain

29 58

Bien de Altura has become a cult name in the Canaries, thanks to young winemaker Carmelo Peña and his mission to preserve the island's final pockets of great vineyards. Carmelo carries a bit of wildness with him: always grinning, full of energy, and usually in thongs or barefoot as he moves through the vineyards and cellar. Beneath his massive smile and young age is a very serious winemaker. His wines are the culmination of that personality and his extensive winemaking experience: vibrant, hedonistically perfumed, precise, yet joyous and warm.

The vines sit at extreme elevation: roughly 1,300m above sea level – above the cloud line, on steep slopes. It's a very pure expression of this dramatic, high-altitude volcanic terroir.

The labels draw on the Berber language of the island's Indigenous people, a nod to Carmelo's own heritage. These grapes come from the first vineyard he ever acquired, making the name 'Sansofi' ('welcome') particularly fitting
